The screenshot shows a Windows Internet Explorer browser window with the title "Certificate Error: Navigation Blocked - Windows Internet Explorer". The address bar displays "https://www.ibank.rqb.ir/". Below the address bar, there is a "Certificate Error: Navigation Blocked" notification bar. The main content area displays a red shield icon with a white 'X' and the text: "There is a problem with this website's security certificate." Below this, it explains: "The security certificate presented by this website was issued for a different website's address. Security certificate problems may indicate an attempt to fool you or intercept any data you send to the server." A recommendation follows: "We recommend that you close this webpage and do not continue to this website." Three options are listed: "Click here to close this webpage." (with a green checkmark icon), "Continue to this website (not recommended)." (with a red star icon and a red box around the text), and "More information" (with a blue downward arrow icon).

This is probably not the site you are looking for!

You attempted to reach www.ibank.rqb.ir, but instead you actually reached a server identifying itself as *.rqb.ir. This may be caused by a misconfiguration on the server or by something more serious. An attacker on your network could be trying to get you to visit a fake (and potentially harmful) version of www.ibank.rqb.ir.

You should not proceed, especially if you have never seen this warning before for this site.
